WELCOME TO OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY

We are excited that you chose to be a part of Beaver Nation and I know you will enjoy being an OSU student. Being in college is an amazing time to follow your educational passion/interests while being involved in out of class experiences that complements your interests. You will get the opportunity to learn about internships, research, leadership, service projects and many other ways that will support your academic progress. Your success is our success and we are committed to you being successful at OSU.

As your Dean of Students, I encourage you to connect with our office. The Office of Student Life provides educational and developmental opportunities to help students make informed decisions about your success. Our team is ready to assist you as you navigate our campus. We partner with faculty, staff, parents, and community members in our afforded effort to continue creating an environment that is welcoming where students feel a sense of belonging. Whether we are the first or last office that you visit, we are here to help you continue enjoying your experience as you persist to completing your Oregon State University degree.

As an international public research university with students from all over the world, we are Dam Proud that you chose to pursue your education at Oregon State University! I wish you the best of luck during your time here and remember, Go Beavs!

Enthusiastically,

Dr. Kevin A. Dougherty
Associate Vice Provost & Dean Of Students
Oregon State University

Member of Kappa Alpha Psi

...we are committed to you being successful at OSU.
Joining a fraternity or sorority can be one of the best ways to find your "home away from home" at Oregon State and make a large campus feel much smaller. There are 47 chapters on campus that are a member of one of five communities, the Collective Greek Council (CGC), Interfraternity Council (IFC), the National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC), the Panhellenic Council (PHC), or the Unified Greek Council (UGC). We believe there is a place for everyone in our diverse community of over 3,200 students. Fraternities and sororities have a rich history at OSU and have been on campus for over 137 years. The first national organization, Alpha Tau Omega, was established on campus in 1882.

Our community shares several core principles: Friendship, Scholarship, Leadership, Inclusivity, Philanthropy and Service. The community shared vision statement is: "United by a common bond, we are a diverse community dedicated to scholarship, leadership and service." Our members live these values each day and strive toward this vision in the events and programs they plan and in the membership experiences our chapters offer. Membership in a fraternity or sorority not only allows you to get more involved at OSU, but also within the local Corvallis community. Studies show that students who are engaged with student organizations, like fraternities and sororities, are more successful academically and are more likely to graduate.

College is a time to build memories and gain friends that will last a lifetime. We know that college is full of choices, and we are glad you’ve made the choice to get to know our chapters. We urge you to get to know our organizations for yourself and make the best decision for you about which group to join.

Please take time to browse through this publication and acquaint yourself with all that fraternity and sorority life has to offer. If you’re still not sure if ‘going Greek’ is right for you, we encourage you to learn more about these organizations by checking out the fall recruitment/membership intake processes.

Once again, welcome to Oregon State University. We offer you our best wishes for every success during your time here. And get used to saying it — "Go Beavs!"

FIND YOUR PLACE IN OUR COMMUNITY

OSU Fraternity & Sorority Experience

For over a century, both OSU and fraternities & sororities have benefited from the mutual relationship shared between the community and the institution. Fraternities and sororities provide a valuable component of the undergraduate experience and complement the curricular and co-curricular aims of the University. Fraternities and sororities recognized by OSU are expected to maintain this history of positive contribution by conducting themselves in accordance with the shared values and expectations of their affiliate inter/national organizations and the University. The fraternities and sororities listed in this booklet are the only social fraternities and sororities recognized by and in good standing with Oregon State University.

A Relationship Statement is executed annually between OSU and its fraternities and sororities. This document formalizes the shared values and expectations that are instrumental in ensuring a mutually beneficial relationship between all parties. Among the specific areas and criteria addressed within the Relationship Statement are:

- Leadership Development
- Academic Achievement
- Risk Reduction & Management
- Diversity & Inclusion
- Membership Development
- Campus Engagement & Community Service
- Advising & Alumni Relations
- Community Standards

This Relationship Statement serves as the basis for ensuring the positive presence and continued contributions of fraternities and sororities at Oregon State University, and that each is working collaboratively to enable each other to meet and exceed their individual missions and goals. To view the full text of this agreement, visit oregonstate.edu/cfsl.
Scholarship: Fraternities and sororities at Oregon State University strive for academic excellence. Each chapter has specific grade requirements for students to achieve and maintain active membership and provides their members with resources to promote academic success. Fraternity and sorority membership offers many options to help new members transition academically from high school to college, including educational programs and workshops, study hours, tutoring programs, and more. As a result, the All-Greek GPA is consistently at or above the All-Undergraduate average.

Philanthropy: Fraternities and sororities sponsor a variety of philanthropic fundraisers that raise over $300,000 annually to support local and national nonprofit organizations. These fundraisers include athletic tournaments, haunted houses, lip sync competitions, and more.

Inclusivity: United by a common bond, the OSU Greek community is a diverse community that strives for inclusivity of all people regardless of age, ethnicity, race, culture, gender identity or expression, religion, disability, veteran status or sexual orientation. We hope to promote a welcoming environment for all students on campus where all members and guests feel supported and accepted.

Community Service: In conjunction with philanthropy, each fraternity and sorority participates in numerous community service events each year to engage with the Corvallis and surrounding communities. Last year, OSU’s Fraternity and Sorority Community logged more than 63,000 hours of community service. Commitment to civic engagement encourages growth as servant leaders and allows members to help others in the world around us.

Friendship: With a large student body at OSU, it is easy for new students to be overwhelmed with life on campus. Fraternity and sorority membership eases the transition and enriches the college experience by encouraging the development of sincere relationships within a tight-knit community of over 3,200 students. The lifelong bonds of brotherhood and sisterhood made in fraternities and sororities are unmatched by any other student organization.

Leadership: Developing leadership skills in all members is a fundamental goal of every organization. Fraternities and sororities offer a variety of leadership positions within their chapters and opportunities also exist in the Fraternity/Sorority Community at large. Members are also leaders on campus, currently holding leadership positions in over 260 student organizations at OSU.
The National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC), also known as the Divine 9 or D9, is the governing council for the historically African-American fraternities and sororities at OSU. NPHC chapters are inclusive, you aren’t required to identify with a specific racial identity to qualify for membership. Fraternities and sororities affiliated with the NPHC do not participate in a formal recruitment process. NPHC chapters identify new members throughout the year, engaging in a membership intake process semi-annually. If you are interested in a sorority or fraternity connected to this council, it’s important to be on the lookout for their events, introduce yourself to members, and reach out to them based on information listed next their chapter profile entry. NPHC organizations typically do not accept a student for membership until the student has completed at least 12-24 units of college credit and has achieved at least a 2.5 grade point average. For additional information on NPHC organizations visit specific organization websites and/or research the book “Divine Nine” by Lawrence Ross.

Annual Community Programs & Involvement Opportunities

Governing Council Leadership:
Chapter members have the opportunity to hold leadership positions on one of the governing council executive boards within Fraternity & Sorority Life. These boards, comprised of students who are community members, are elected by their peers to govern and program on behalf of their community. These councils annually participate in national leadership conferences and work to improve the fraternity/sorority experience at OSU.

Leadership Development Programs:
Fraternity & Sorority Life annually hosts a variety of leadership development experiences, including two leadership retreats for members of the community. The Emerging Leadership Retreat is hosted each November for up-and-coming first and second year members, who engage in exploration of their own leadership goals. The President’s Leadership Retreat is hosted in January and is an overnight weekend of community building and strategic planning for all chapter presidents and governing council officers.

Greek Week:
Fraternities and sororities have been a part of the Oregon State University (OSU) community for over 100 years and Greek Week serves as a celebration of everything fraternity/sorority at OSU! Fraternity & Sorority members work together to plan a week of educational programs, friendly competitions and a service activity.

Order of Omega:
Order of Omega is a national Greek Honor Society for the top 3% of fraternity men & sorority women based on the tenets of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Order of Omega’s purpose is to recognize students who have attained a high standard of leadership within the community, to bring together those members who will help shape the community and the University, and to join faculty, alumni, and students with the intent of helping and understanding one another.

Stepping & Strolling:
Stepping and Strolling is an expressive dance form that was created by African American fraternities in the 1970s. It has been adopted by most culturally-based fraternal organizations through the years. NPHC and UGC members move together in a line expressing pride for their organization. In this line, members may show this pride through the use of their organization’s call, sign or historical information, ritual/custom dances, etc. NPHC and UGC organizations perform at annual yardshows and competitions.

All-University Sing:
IFC Sing originated in 1936 as a homecoming event for fraternity members at the Oregon Agricultural College. Today it is called All-University Sing, which is an annual event sponsored by the Interfraternity (IFC) & Panhellenic (PHC) Executive councils. Sing is a song and dance competition put on by groups and organizations during the Spring Family Weekend.
Ken Austin (1931-2019), the namesake of Austin Hall, was an engineer and entrepreneur that has truly left a mark on the history of Oregon State. Austin graduated in 1954 and with his late wife, Joan Austin, founded A-dec in his hometown of Newberg, Oregon. A-dec, or Austin Dental Equipment Company, went on to become the largest manufacturer of dental equipment in the country. He holds 38 patents in the dental equipment industry.

In 1952, Austin became the first Benny Beaver mascot in school history. Austin, and one of his fraternity brothers from Delta Tau Delta, came up with the idea and began this special tradition for OSU. After getting the approval of what was then Oregon State College, Austin made the costume himself and was ready to perform in front of the school for the football season. For his act, he drew inspiration from rodeo clowns he grew up watching in the St. Paul rodeo. Austin carried a revolver around at the games and shot blanks, one time even burning holes into the penalty flag of the referee. Austin, as Benny, would even climb up and sit on top of the goalposts when the opposing team would get close to scoring.

More recently, Austin devoted himself to giving back to his community. He and his wife founded Springbrook Northwest, a drug and alcohol treatment center. He also worked with Rotary International to donate dental units for missionary projects. Austin was not yet satisfied with his philanthropic endeavors, and due to his love of OSU, donated $10 million for the construction of a new building for the business program. This building, which opened in the Fall of 2014, was dedicated in his honor and is the home to the College of Business.

I have countless examples of how the Greek community has supported me, but most recently as I was preparing to take the MCAT, I felt supported like never before. So many of my sisters helped me out with snacks as I was studying, small words of encouragement, and willingness to listen to me stress out about the biggest test I’d ever taken. With these words and deeds in mind, I went into the test feeling like no matter what happened, my sisters would be there for me. Having sisterhood here at OSU has truly helped me achieve my dreams, and as I prepare to apply to medical school, I know my sisters will be right there with me.
Active: A fully initiated undergraduate member of a fraternity or sorority.

Alumnus/Alumna: A member of a fraternity or sorority who has graduated from college.

Bid: A formal invitation to membership in a fraternity or sorority.

Big: An initiated member of a fraternity or sorority who serves as a mentor to a Potential/Prospective New Member, guiding them through the new member program and initiation.

Chant: A call used by members of culturally-based organizations or NPHC chapters to acknowledge or gain the attention of others; some organizations have more than one chant.

Chapter: The local collegiate membership unit of a national or international fraternity or sorority.

Collective Greek Council: The governing body of the five formerly Independent Chapters at OSU that are interest and academics based.

Crossing: Ceremony during which new members of culturally-based and historically black Greek-letter organizations become active, life-long members of their organizations.

Dues: The monetary costs of membership in a fraternity or sorority that are used to fund the costs of operations, events, and other activities.

Governing Council: Peer elected executive board from the member groups within one community. Generally supports and acts as a voice for organizations within it, including being the official liaison between the university and the members of the member organizations.

Hazing: Unethical mental or physical abuse and activities that are prohibited by Oregon State University, the local and state government, and all OSU Greek councils and organizations. Please refer to the OSU Code of Student Conduct for the full definition of hazing.

Initiation: A traditional ritual or formal ceremony that brings a new member into full Greek membership.

Interfraternity Council (IFC): Peer-elected governing council for traditionally housed fraternities that currently supports 22 men’s chapters at OSU.

Legacy: An immediate relative of an initiated member of a fraternity or sorority, defined slightly differently by each individual organization.

Line: The new member class of a culturally-based or historically black organization.

Little: Short for “Little Brother/Sister” – a new member who is being mentored by an older member of their organization.

Membership Intakes: Term for the process by which NPHC and UGC chapters recruit, select, educate, and initiate new members of their organizations.

National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC): The governing body of the nine historically African American fraternities and sororities, also known as the “Divine Nine”.

Neophyte: A new member of a culturally-based or historically black organization which usually defines that stage between the completion of new member/pledge requirements and being initiated.

New Member: An individual who has accepted a bid to join a fraternity or sorority but who has not yet been initiated; also called an associate member.

New Member Presentation: A presentation that celebrates and welcomes new members into the Multicultural Greek or NPHC Community. A general set up of a new member presentation consists of welcoming fellow Greeks, local and national chapter history, and revealing of the new member(s).

Order of Omega: A national honor society for fraternity and sorority members who maintain a GPA above the All-Greek average, have distinguished themselves as leaders in the OSU Greek community, have exemplary character, and hold either junior or senior academic standing.

Panhellenic Council (PHC): Peer-elected governing council for traditionally housed sororities that currently supports 11 women’s chapters at OSU.

Philanthropy: A fundraising event hosted to raise money for a charitable organization with which the chapter or community has a relationship.

Potential New Member (PNM): A person who is interested in joining a Greek-letter organization, and will participate in intake or recruitment.

Recruitment Guide (Gamma Chi): A neutral representative of a Panhellenic sorority who temporarily leaves her affiliation to guide and support PNMs through recruitment.

Ritual: The traditional rites and ceremonies of a fraternity or sorority; these are almost always private and known only to initiated members of a fraternal organization.

Saluting: A unique act of reciting information in a line formation. Members perform intense, in-sync, and sharp movements with greetings attributing to others, honoring accomplishments, or cherishing the cultural history, heritage, and traditions of the organization.

Stepping: Stepping is a tradition where members synchronize their moves so that they are performing their own dance moves without music. In stepping the members will clap, stomp with their feet, jump, chant (not to be confused with saluting) and create their own beat by doing so. Stepping is traditionally done by NPHC organizations, but multicultural Greeks are also known to do it.

Strolling: Also known as party walking or ‘party walk’, is a synchronized dance performed with music by culturally based organizations.

Unified Greek Council (UGC): The governing body of 6 culturally-based organization designed to unite the diverse organizations and promote multicultural awareness to the OSU community.
1. What will I get from a fraternity or sorority that I would not get out of any other college organization?

Coming to college is one of the major life changes that you will go through. Joining a fraternity or sorority will help make the transition easier. Developing lifelong friendships with other chapter members helps make the campus seem smaller. For many members, these chapters become a home away from home. In addition to the brotherhood/sisterhood, every chapter is dedicated to enhancing leadership, scholarship, and philanthropy/community service.

2. How do I find the right organization for me?

The best way to find your fit is to ask current members of the organization. Recruitment events are a great way to meet people and ask questions. At the end of the day, it matters most that you find a group that you connect with and that shares similar values with you.

3. If I go through membership intake or recruitment, am I guaranteed an invitation to join a fraternity or sorority?

Just as you are looking for a perfect fit, these organizations are also looking for great individuals. Membership criteria can change from organization to organization, but all groups will have a minimum GPA requirement; some will be focusing on previous or other campus involvement, others more on community service, leadership experience, etc. The most important thing is to be your genuine self throughout the recruitment/membership intake process and the right organization for you will embrace you for who you are.

4. If I am an international student, can I join a fraternity/sorority?

Yes, anyone who is enrolled at OSU is allowed to pursue membership through recruitment or membership intake. We welcome and encourage international students to take part in Fraternity and Sorority Life.

5. What opportunities for continued involvement are there after I graduate?

Fraternity and sorority life is a lifelong commitment with limitless opportunities. Following graduation, many organizations encourage their graduating members to join their local alumni association, as well as regional, district, or national positions and volunteer to support undergraduate members.

6. Do I have to go to all recruitment and membership intake events? What if I can’t make it to a recruitment or membership intake event?

The best way to find out if an organization is for you, is to attend as many of their events as possible. This will help you see if an organization is a good fit for you. However, it is up to you to attend or choose not attend recruitment events. You should never skip class to attend recruitment events. Your education always comes first, but always make an effort to let the chapter know ahead of time. Keep in mind, some organizations require you to meet certain criteria, for example attending an informational program, community service event, etc. before you will be eligible for membership.

7. How much does it cost to join a fraternity or sorority?

It is important for potential members and parents to be as informed as possible regarding the costs associated with obtaining a college education. Understanding the financial obligations associated with fraternity and sorority membership is just as important. Each individual joining a fraternity or sorority should be aware of the dues, fees and other expenses that are involved and should consider these when making financial plans to attend college. During the recruitment or membership intake process, a potential member should ask members about the financial obligations and payment options. Each organization sets its own fees and payment schedules. The average cost for the first term of joining an organization is usually higher due to one-time expenses and fees. Specific membership fees and costs are shared during council-sponsored recruitment processes. For housed chapters, dues and live-in fees are usually less than the cost to live on-campus in a residence hall. On each council’s page you can see a breakdown of financial costs.
